

EDNA MCGILLICUTTY

BY RACHEL A.R SHAW

ILLUSTRATED BY TOM BONSON

At first, it's sensible. Thoughtful. Perfectly reasonable. A pair for puddles. A pair for parties. A pair for days that feel a little sideways.

But soon, sensible becomes impressive. And impressive becomes... unavoidable. Shoes line the hallway. Shoes fill the rooms. Shoes stack, spill, and tiptoe into every corner. Still, Edna insists everything is perfectly under control. As the collection grows, so does the spectacle—drawing in neighbors, helpers, and eventually the entire street.

A BELOVED CHARACTER WITH A TEENY-TINY
PROBLEM OF gulp... EPIC PROPORTIONS

CLASSIC ABSURDITY WITH MODERN RESTRAINT

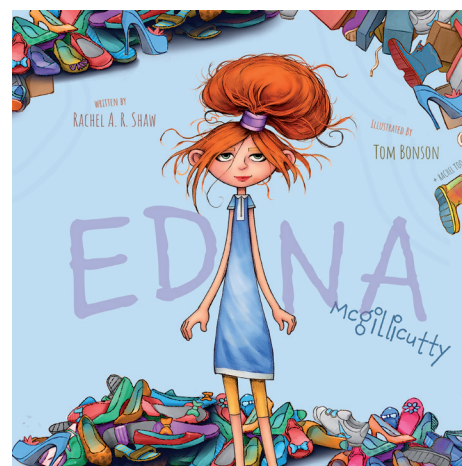

The story builds humor through visual escalation and perfectly timed page turns, allowing the illustrations to carry much of the comedy while the text remains calm, confident, and precise.

Accumulation, surprise, and scale give careful readers something new to discover on every reread.

Told through rhythmic, read-aloud-friendly prose and expressive illustrations, Edna McGillicutty trusts young readers to notice, discover, and laugh—without explaining the joke for them.

Each spread reveals new shoes, visual details, and surprises, inviting readers back again and again.

At its heart, it's a story about generosity, abundance, and discovering when enough is finally enough—with its themes emerging naturally through the comedy.

SHOESPECTACULARLY FUN!

Audience: Families • Classrooms • Libraries

Category: Juvenile Fiction / Humorous Stories
Juvenile Fiction / Concepts / General

Format: Hardcover (10" x 10")

ISBN: 978-1-7776948-4-5 •

Softcover (8.5"x8.5")

ISBN: 978-1-7776948-3-8 •

E-book: 978-1-7776948-5-2

ferosh
— LIFE PRESS —

feroshlifeexpress.com